Scripta is a critical book-review journal, supplemented by “Bibliologia” as an addendum. Their subject concerns publications of scientific researches covering the broad field of Science’s History and Philosophy. At the addendum of Bibliologia, books of considerable interest will be mentioned, among those that no critical book review has been taken place, but we do not evaluate them as worth-ignoring. Scripta and Bibliologia will be issued annually.

Greek is the main language of the texts, but it is preferable to have been also translated in English, French, German, Italian, Spanish or Russian language. At full length the texts should be of 600 to 2.000 words in order to be issued. Besides, one has to refer all the publication’s details, that is the name of the editor, the year, the number of the volume and pages, isbn, etc.
